Subject: Re Requested increase in gas price

I wish to strongly object to this increase. How dare they seek such an increase. This is outrageous. How is it that year after year these companies are granted increases while the country goes down the tubes. We are paying way over the odds for services as it is. I would suggest they review their wage structure at high levels to find some savings instead of seeking it from the already struggling families.

I won't hold my breath,

Regards,

Pat Linehan.
