

To whom it may concern

It is disgraceful that we the consumers are expected to subsidise the wind industry to this degree. Very few of the projects are for the local communities and are being run by corporate investment funds.

Another rise in the PSO levy is a step too far. If these industries are commercial then they should compete as such. They are costly and inefficient putting undue pressure on the combined cycle gas turbines which are the most efficient and co2 friendly if allowed to run at maximum efficiency.

A full reassessment of the energy requirements of the country needs to be undertaken. Subsidising inefficiency is madness.
